

POISON CIDER IS FATAL TO EIGHT

VETS AT ELKS BEDFORD HOME ARE STRICKEN

Others Are Ill—Cider Contained Arsenate of Lead—Was in Barrel, Thought to Have Been Used Last Spring in Connection With Spraying.

(By The Associated Press)
LYNCHBURG, Va., Nov. 11.—Drinking sweet cider which was delivered to the home in a keg now believed to have formerly been used for fruit tree spraying with arsenate of lead, caused the deaths of eight veteran Elks residents of the national home at that order at Bedford, 25 miles from here, yesterday evening, and last night, while seventeen other residents of the home were still very sick today and it was feared that, at least, two more cases might prove fatal.

Bedford county authorities, who have been investigating the cause of the trouble since its gravity developed, are satisfied that there was no criminal intent and that the keg used for transporting the cider to the home, would later have been used by its owner, E. M. Richardson, for vinegar for family use.

Seven of the Elks who died last evening and last night are to be interred in Bedford, the exception being Alvin Spalding, whose body is to be sent to Loveland, Colorado.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Nov. 11.—Eight veteran Elks residents of the Elks' national home, located at Bedford, 25 miles from here, died last night at the home according to advices received this morning from what is thought to have been arsenate of lead used for tree spraying.

The cider it was stated, was bought from a farmer in a barrel and it is thought the barrel was used last spring in connection with spraying. Several other veterans, resident of the home, are ill from the cider.

The dead:
Chester Tucker, jeweler, Lima, Ohio.
Alvin Spalding, railroad man, Loveland, Colorado.
Joseph A. Kenny, hotel man, Marion, Indiana.
F. E. O'Connor, railroad contractor, Long Island City, New York.
George W. Stude, lumber merchant, Safford, Arizona.
C. S. Whitney, general contractor, Omaha, Nebraska.
B. F. Allen, shoeman, Portland, Oregon.

Superintendent Charles Mosby said analysis made last night at Randolph-Macon academy bore out the early diagnosis of attending physicians, that arsenate of lead poisoning, taken by the veteran Elks in a keg of sweet cider made essential for the home by Bedford county merchant named E. M. Richardson, whose address is Kelson's Mills. The cider was made last Friday and taken to the home Saturday. Monday afternoon it was served at lunch, some going to the veterans from the keg and some to others from a demijohn. About three o'clock about 25 veterans became violently ill, causing Superintendent Mosby to even call in the aid of the physicians of Bedford and later three from Roanoke and two from Lynchburg. Two graduate nurses were secured from Lynchburg last night and two more today from Roanoke.

Physicians who usually attend the home and those called in for the emergency from Bedford diagnosed the trouble as arsenic poisoning—analysis made at Randolph-Macon Academy showed that it was arsenate of lead.

Investigation today showed that the keg bought by Mr. Richardson for the purpose of using it for vinegar for his family, but when he received the order for the cider he said he washed the keg thoroughly and used it to deliver the order.

It is believed the keg was used during the last winter or spring for apple-tree spraying and that the poison remained in the wood.

Commonwealth's Attorney Edward C. Burks said his investigation showed that there was no criminal intent, but that it was a pure accident, but very unfortunate. The Commonwealth's attorney said there seemed to be no reason for a coroner's inquest and as far as he was advised that this forenoon no inquest would be held.

Mr. Burks said, however, that the investigation would do an effort to ascertain how the keg came into the possession of Mr. Richardson, who is said to have bought it from a resident of that section, whose identity was not known today.

Superintendent Mosby announced that seventeen other residents of the home were sick today, but all of them, were expected to recover.

Superintendent Mosby also stated that as quickly as the extent of the situation was appreciated that Robert A. Scott, of Lincoln, Indiana, a member of the National Board of the home, was advised of the situation and he promptly wired instructions for the home to spare no expense or effort to cope with the situation and to ascertain the cause. Mr. Scott advised that he was leaving at once for the home and expected to reach there tomorrow morning.

Superintendent Mosby, who had been in close touch with Dr. Thomas E. West, county coroner, and he said this forenoon that there seemed to be no likelihood of an inquest being held by Dr. West.

TOWN TOPICS

The question of providing the city with a fund to be used by the police department in coping with emergency cases which require expenditures will not be met during the current fiscal year of the city, according to a report made by the Council Finance Committee. The committee expresses the belief that this should be taken care of when the next fiscal budget is being made.

Dr. Allen F. Vossell of Charlottesville will conduct another orthopedic clinic in Danville tomorrow morning starting at nine o'clock in the city health office. Efforts are being made to bring in crippled children from a wider radius and the superintendent of county schools was recently asked to bring the clinic to the attention of the country schools. Some twenty seven children were examined and treated at the last clinic held here.

A group of high school students, all members of Miss Isabel Sloan's English class studied the mechanical processes of newspaper making at the Bee office yesterday afternoon. They arrived at two o'clock and remained until five o'clock, when they were taken through a newspaper press from the preparation of news to the rapid discharging of papers from the press. The students showed keen interest in the processes and are to make an oral report on their impressions today. Included in the group were Miss Sloan, Josephine Brown, Gertrude Smith, Theresa Diamond, Betty Taylor, Faye Kympton, Frances Lee, the McCain, Eleanor Venable and Vera Broome.

The canvass for members of the Danville Chapter, American Red Cross, was continuing today with the plan of completing the house to house visits by Thursday evening when the first report will be made. The booths in public buildings yesterday resulted in the collection of 222. Mrs. C. A. Bunker, of the Danville chapter, reported it is impossible at this time to give the total membership thus far secured in the roll call.

The Danville Chapter, American Banking Institute will have an interesting session in the directors room of the First National Bank on November 20th when members will compete for a cup which is being offered by a well known adding machine manufacturer to the Danville man who can run a list of figures on the machine in the shortest time. Speed and accuracy will determine the award. Bundles of checks each of the sealed and containing 1250 will be sent here prior to the contest.

ORDINANCES ON BONDS SIGNED BY THE MAYOR

City Auditor Plans No Immediate Step Towards Issuing Them.

Mayor Harry Wooding this morning signed his signature to all of the ordinances adopted by the council last night, these including the school, streets and sewer issues aggregating half a million dollars, also the $100,000 refunding bond issue which has been found necessary by the Council to retire an issue of bonds dating back twenty years or more. City Auditor Richard P. Moss indicated this morning that he would take no further step towards the issuance of the bonds by having them printed until he is authorized to do so by the finance committee, and it is his present intention of waiting until the fiscal year begins. It is, however, possible that the finance committee, despite the threat of being held to "strict accountability" by Harry C. Ficklen and others, may order the issuance of the bonds in northern journals as is usually done. The auditor reports the receipt already of informal offers to take the bonds at a good price, notwithstanding the pending legal question. This apparent willingness to buy them in face of a legal cloud is based on the definite affirmative opinion given by the city's New York bond attorneys that the election was valid.

STRANGER TAKES UP COLLECTION IN CHURCH THEN LEAVES HURRIEDLY

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A man who called himself the Rev. Isaac Solomon walked into the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer Sunday and asked permission to address the Sunday School class. His request was granted.

Solomon" enter another church. Police were called and sent him to the police station. There after $132 was taken from him. Solomon said he was engaged in converting Jews to Christ.

POISON FOUND IN STOMACH OF BLANCHE LONG

Coroners Jury to Reassemble Tomorrow When Inquiry Will Be Resumed

Miss Blanche Long, who several weeks ago died under suspicious circumstances, at a boarding house on Patton street, succumbed to strychnine poisoning, according to Dr. J. M. Whitfield, of Richmond, the State chemist to whom the stomach of the girl was sent on October 24th for a chemical analysis. The report was received by Dr. J. E. Taylor this morning, who said that the coroner's jury which has stood adjourned pending the examination, will reassemble tomorrow morning at halfpast ten o'clock at which time a group of witnesses will be placed upon the witness stand. It is understood that their testimony will have a vital bearing on the young woman's death.

Muncie Long, uncle of the girl, who was arrested in connection with the case and whose trial has been repeatedly postponed, was given his freedom this morning by Magistrate C. K. Carter after it had been called for the fifth time. Long was held under a charge of vagrancy, but the State could find no good reason for continuing his charge against him since he put up a cash bond of $1,200 when first arrested and in the absence of testimony against him he was released.

The State chemist's report is a long one and rather technical. Dr. Whitfield says that it was difficult to arrive at a conclusion in the absence of any other evidence. He said that the analysis showed the presence of strychnine, which was well preserved of the stomach of the girl. However, it was recognized by the chemist that an unknown quantity evidently had been absorbed by the system.

ARMISTICE DAY MANEUVERS ON RIVER ROAD ABANDONED

Danville today observed Armistice Day with a public ceremony at the Majestic theater at which Captain Greenlee Letcher, wartime commander of the Rockbridge Battery, which was part of the 11th Field Artillery, gave the address. The solemn moment of the armistice was observed with a moment of complete silence and prayerful meditation of the dead.

The program for the day suffered a serious blow late last night when the commander of the maneuvers which were to have been held on the River Road this afternoon was compelled to abandon the affair. Captain Ashby Raine of the Bank Company has for several weeks been preparing an elaborate scheme of military operations but at the last minute, it is said, a large number of members of the national guard companies found that they could not get away from work in time to take part in the maneuvers. It is recalled the celebration fell on Saturday and no difficulty was experienced in securing a full turn out of the companies. With respect of a corps of several hundred men, the committee thought it wiser to cancel the maneuver program.

Tonight the Armistice Day celebration will close with a Victory Dance at the Masonic Temple.

The lower floor of the Majestic theater was filled when the exercises began at last night. A few occupied the gallery. Alan S. Clark, commander of Danville Post No. 19, American Legion, presided at the meeting, a musical programme also effective wartime reading preceded the address by Captain Letcher who was introduced by A. M. Aiken. Col. Letcher spoke for about forty minutes. He had no prepared oration but he came, he said, to give some reminiscences and to revive some of the associations of the war. Through out the address, however, was an analogy drawn between the spirit and character of the Virginians of the confederacy and their sons who also fought for a great ideal. He paid a handsome tribute to the response made by Danville when the call came—especially its voluntary response as witnessed by the recruiting of local organizations. He depicted at some length the period of service, how the Battle of Gettysburg was fought, the war experience with Battery "F" which Captain Letcher organized and which he commanded through the war period. At the time the armistice was signed, he said, General Pershing was leading a military thrust against the German line between Metz and Verdun. In the back areas had been concentrated masses of artillery and infantry and it was General Pershing's full purpose to launch a drive, undertaken exclusively by American men and American material. It was to be the blow to shatter the hitherto impregnable Hindenburg line which was to bring deliverance to Alsace-Lorraine, which it was planned for America to receive as a gift from France. But the Armistice, he said, intervened. He referred to difficulties in organizing the Rockbridge battery. When the 11th Field Artillery as being recruited, it became apparent to Col.

Even a miser, let alone a gallant naval officer, would loosen up for the Red Cross if such a pretty miss as shown in the photograph were to pin a button on him. She is Miss Virginia Hitt, Washington society girl, and her victim is Captain A. A. Andrews, U. S. N., commander of the presidential yacht, the Mayflower.

DANVILLE MAN BELIEVED DEAD IN NORTH FOUND

W. B. Abbott Writes Here From Connecticut, Saying He's Well.

W. B. Abbott, formerly of this city but for the past ten years living near Learning on Ontario, Canada, and who for several months was reported missing under unusual and mysterious circumstances, has been found. He is safe and well and at present is living in a town in Connecticut.

Mr. B. Abbott, his father, who has spent a good deal of money in trying to trace his son, reported that his son wrote a letter more than a week ago. While it was dated from New York, it bore the postmark of a city in Connecticut which Mr. Abbott could not recall this morning. The letter, he said had been sent to a relative out of the city. In the letter, Mr. Abbott stated, his son simply said that he was at home and well but offered an explanation for his disappearance nor for the anxiety which was incidentally caused his family. "I guess you wonder what made me go off" is a quoted excerpt from the letter in which he says he expects to return to Danville soon at which time he will detail his story.

Mr. and Mrs. Abbott long since had given up their son as lost. Near his farm was found his cap and in a stream not far away a corpse was found. The latter city for several days had been reported that the body was doubtless that of the missing son though the fact could not be determined one way or the other.

Mr. Abbott returned from Canada last Friday, he said, and his wife with the glad news that the lost son had been heard from. Mrs. Abbott had forwarded the letter to Ontario but it returned a few days ago when Mr. Abbott read it for the first time. The Danville man has been in Canada several weeks winding up the affairs of his son who owned a 12-acre farm most of which was cultivated in cigarette tobacco of a type similar to that grown in this section. Mr. Abbott said he was not sure that the son had been in the household goods and turned the farm over to the man from whom his son rented it. He then returned to Danville.

Identically the father is one of the pioneer tobacco men of Canada. For twenty years or more he has been going regularly to Canada to help advise in the art of curing tobacco. His son, he says, had a fertile farm on the shores of Lake Erie and was in the latter city for four hours to make enquiries of neighbors and he could not find any circumstance which might have caused his son to leave the home. He said he adopted some ten years ago. Not only did Mr. Abbott go to Canada when the Canadian authorities sent word that his son was missing but he sent another son and the two men have spent anxious weeks trying to trace the boy.

Mr. Abbott said this morning that he was less concerned now with the circumstances surrounding his disappearance as he was with the fact that his son is alive and well. The family expects him almost any day and are greatly looking forward to his return.

CHILD CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Little Marjorie Wade, daughter of Sergeant and Mrs. Wesley J. Wade, Washington street, this morning at 11 o'clock celebrated her second birthday, as well as Armistice Day, by giving an enjoyable party to her child friends. The dining room was decorated with flags and the costume of the little hostess was also made of flags. Patriotic songs were sung and the little child, Sergeant Wade, her father had an enviable record on the battlefields of France and she herself was born on Armistice Day, 1922. She took great pride this morning in carrying out the program with a patriotic air.

SIGNING OF ARMISTICE BEING CELEBRATED FAR AND WIDE OVER NATION

VIRGINIA JOINS IN CELEBRATION IN ARLINGTON

State Carries Out Programs Designed to Glorify Dead Fighters

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 11.—Virginians of the length and breadth of the commonwealth today laid aside their daily routine to join with the nation in celebrating Armistice day. They gathered everywhere, from the smallest hamlet to the capital of the state, to glorify dead fighters and to honor those more fortunate ones who answered the call in 17, 18, safely and prosperously. Although the fight was the same, as was the method of celebration, although graduated in size according to the number of residents in each locality.

Some of them were not so sure about the future, but they were as full of gladness for they took solace in the fact that their handicaps were marks of their glorious service. Behind them on the side lines, were others, some too old to war, others too young to understand war, but in all that same pulsating passion, the same purpose of thought and the same love of country and the principles behind its foundation.

The lines of march necessarily varied according to locality, for many were without military accompaniment. However, they were made up of veterans of the wars, Spanish-American conflict and the war between the states, patriotic and civic organizations at other localities. At the end of the march, speakers paid tribute to the sacrifice on the fields overseas and wreaths were laid on shrines and graves everywhere. Although the day is not a legal holiday, the day is observed by the schools, churches, and school children were permitted to participate in the exercises.

PARIS OBSERVES EVENT

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, Nov. 11.—Armistice day this year is for the first time a full holiday in France. Although parliament voted a legal holiday long ago, application of the law has been suspended until the war was over. Today everything is closed except the places of amusement. MINUTE OF SILENCE

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—A minute of silence with all traffic halted and business suspended, special observances by veterans' bodies and programs by various organizations marked Chicago's celebration of Armistice day. Banks, the stock exchanges, and public buildings, and all schools were closed. Public functions included a program by the 202nd Field Artillery, school children's exercises and banquets tonight.

Vice-President-Elect Duwes will attend a dinner of the Evanston, Ill., American Legion post tonight. Former Judge K. M. Landis will speak at the Hyde Park Legion post dinner. Other prominent business officials will address gatherings at club and fraternal order luncheons and dinners.

"TAPS" BROADCASTED

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—New York's Armistice day program included two minutes of silence at 1 o'clock, ushered in by radio "broadcasting" of taps with very activity in the city ceasing for the period of contemplation.

Patriotic, civic, religious and business organizations were prepared to join with the city in the observance of the day on which hostilities ceased six years. Although many business offices requested employees to cease work at 11 o'clock for two minutes, few offices closed for the day. The consolidated and cotton exchanges planned to cease trading for two minutes. The program also included a parade under the auspices of the city.

Mayor and 4 DRY'S RESCUED FROM MAD MOB

Were Marooned in Town During Demonstration Following Their Trial

(By The Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 11.—Surrounded by a threatening crowd that gathered from miles around, Mayor A. R. Pugh and four other officials were rescued last night by Cincinnati police and Cleveland officers after having been marooned in the town hall of the latter city for four hours. The demonstration started when the mayor and his deputies appeared for trial before Magistrate Samuel Williams, on charges of assault and battery and pointing firearms, preferred by Mrs. Henry Smith, of Dent, O., whose home they raided in search for liquor several days ago.

When the cases were called the defendants entered pleas of not guilty and the trials were continued until next Friday.

This was the signal for an outbreak on the part of the crowd, members of which used their way to the side of the defendants, demanding that the trial proceed. Some one turned on the lights and when they flashed up again, Greenlee Hahn, a deputy, had a broken nose and other exhibited evidence of rough handling.

Saying that the danger was growing steadily worse the court and village officials rushed through the crowd and hustled the deputies and Mayor Pugh into the jail in the basement of the building.

"Hang 'em," and "get a rope" was the cries heard on every side.

Appeals for order were heeded. Cincinnati was called upon for aid and reserves were ordered and a cordon was formed around the hall and Mayor Pugh and deputies were rushed to Cincinnati, the crowd having threatened to burn the jail.

Three automobiles were being long for the deputies were arrested and 47 fire.

JUST OUT FOR KILLING WIFE, WEDS AGAIN, KILLS SECOND WIFE, THEN SELF

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Less than six months ago, Satron Pales, escaped out of the state prison of Pennsylvania after serving thirteen years for the slaying of his first wife. He married a second time and for a time it seemed that he might turn out all right.

Then came the tragedy. Pales, a jealous man, today he fired five shots into the body of his wife.

"I won't go to jail again," he laughed when the authorities battered down the door of his home.

Police waited until the officers entered, then fired two shots into his own head, dying instantly.

PROSPECTS FOR A SUCCESSFUL CHEST CAMPAIGN

Selection of One More Major Will Complete Organization.

The executive committee of the Community Chest campaign met last evening and discussed various features of the coming campaign. The committee felt much encouraged over the prospects which look bright at this time. Colonel A. B. Carrington served as chairman of the meeting during the transaction of the necessary business. Chairman Booth gave a splendid talk on the work which each had to do to keep up the splendid talk on the work which each had to do to keep up the splendid record of the Danville Community Chest. The following members of the executive committee were present: A. B. Carrington, chairman; Mrs. B. V. Booth, Mrs. W. T. Harris, Mrs. C. M. Mahan, Mrs. Rucker, Penn, W. P. Boutwright, B. V. Booth, Jack T. Catlin, Jr., L. B. Conway, Jr., L. Hermon, Rev. T. A. Smoot, W. L. Smith, Henry Day, Dan D. Dickenson, Dr. S. T. Senter, Mrs. W. R. Paxson, A. Booth, H. R. Fitzgerald, and Mrs. H. E. Ferguson.

Information received from cities where one annual campaign for all welfare and charitable institutions is conducted, points to the fact that success in reaching the goal is almost invariably attained where a scale of giving is published for the information of all subscribers. This is not necessarily a hard and fast rule or assessment but an indication from an authoritative source as to the amount needed from individual subscribers to meet the obligations of the united budget for one year.

After careful consideration of all the factors entering into equitable division of the amount to be raised in Danville, the executive committee has decided that it is advisable that just to indicate in some way the amount which is required, reduced to a medium that will fit the financial position of the various individual subscribers.

The suggested standard of giving that has been adopted for this year's campaign to realize the objective of $1,020, is reproduced below. It has been adopted after careful consideration by financial leaders. Every year there are those who do not seem to be able to fix their quota and with this in mind the committee has put forward this scale as a guide.

Employees of various industries and others employed at an hourly wage are to be asked to contribute a sum not more than twelve months' salary. Salaried clerks and executives receiving between $1,000 and $10,000 a year are asked to subscribe an amount per month based on the following table:

Less than $1,000—50c per month.
$1,000—75c per month.
$1,500—$1.00 per month.
$1,500—$2,000—$1.50 per month.
$2,000—$2,500—$2.00 per month.
$2,500—$3,000—$2.50 per month.
$3,000—$3,500—$3.00 per month.
$3,500—$4,000—$4.00 per month.
$4,000—$4,500—$4.50 per month.
$4,500—$5,000—$5.00 per month.
$5,000—$6,000—$6.00 per month.
$6,000—$7,000—$7.00 per month.
$7,000—$8,000—$8.00 per month.
$8,000—$9,000—$9.00 per month.
$9,000—$10,000—$10.00 per month.

LOS ANGELES HAS ANOTHER MURDER CASE

Purveyor of Diamonds to Movie Colony Shot and Killed

(By The Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—The identity of the person who shot and killed Harry I. Katz, purveyor of diamonds, real estate operator and purveyor of diamonds to the motion picture colony, as he opened the door of his apartment in a fashionable residence district here last night, remained as much of a mystery today as it was a few minutes after the shooting.

By following up the threads of the man's various activities, police hoped to discover a motive for the slaying. The results of a night of investigation left unsettled the question whether money, diamonds, a woman or disputes centering about a German-built yacht lay at the bottom of the killing. Katz died of a bullet wound in the neck a few minutes after the shooting.

Four witnesses told police they heard a man running from the building. Acquaintances of the slain man revealed that he had purchased for $50,000 the apartment house in which he lived, paying most of the purchase price in diamonds; that he had bought a German-built yacht about three months ago, also with diamonds; that men he employed on the yacht had quarrels with his over money due them; that he had numerous women callers; that he was in some sort of financial difficulty and was planning to sell his yacht and that he habitually carried a revolver.

On Katz's fingers when he died were diamond rings and a diamond earring in his coat along with other valuable gems. Police believe that robbery was not the motive for the slaying.

ADDED ATTRACTION IS FEATURE AT MAJESTIC
A rare treat was afforded those who attended the performances of Walter Kellam and Merry Go Round Company at the Majestic theatre yesterday, which included an added attraction of the Keith vaudeville circuit. The added feature is Emmett Miller, novelty blackface and Walter Rathrock, pianist, who join the Keith company on Monday. The Majestic management were fortunate in discovering that they had the week off and would consent to play in Danville.

There are other attractions also, which proved enjoyable. The list is headed by the comedy acrobatic act, which was highly entertaining and amusing. Other singing, dancing and short acts went over well. The specialty act, which was well received, is due today owing to "Little Jessie James" but on tomorrow will present a nautique change in program also on Friday.

Fashions That Dazzle And Fascinate.

(Editor's Note: This is the second interview with Henri Bendel, one of the foremost designers, who will tell of fashions and what women should wear exclusively in The Bee. Another interview will appear next week.)

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Daytime and street clothes are more standardized than ever before and evening clothes are less so, according to Henri Bendel, New York designer and creator of style.

"There is no set style," he said as we watched his mannequins pass by forming a parade of fashion that dazzled and fascinated.

Here was a gown of pure Greek inspiration followed by one so bejeweled it suggested the sultan's harem. A gorgeous crimson velvet with a long train contrasted with a white chiffon frock that scarcely more than covered the knees of the slender wearer.

"Skirt lengths vary. There are gorgeous brocades, velvets and bejeweled effects for those who wish to dazzle, and crepes and chiffons for those who wish simplicity. There are wide or narrow skirts, bouffant or straight. There is every color and tint to select from."

"The brilliant shades of red, green, purple or orange are as fashionable as the demure pastel shades or white which is more popular than ever and black that never loses its prestige with well-governed women."

With such a variety to select from, naturally women have an equal chance to select the wrong thing as well as the right.

Velvets Are Popular

"Velvets are the rage," Mr. Bendel said as he called my attention to a stately mannequin in an orange velvet creation trimmed with gold lace and a wide girde of civit cat fur.

"But velvet is an unwise choice for the woman who buys but one evening gown as season or who spends a part of her winter in the south for velvet can be worn only a part of the year, while chiffon, satin or lace is as useful in spring, summer, and fall as in the winter."

"An evening gown should be selected in relation to social activities. If you dance frequently, your evening frocks should be full and light and not too sketchily put together so that they take beautiful lines while you are in motion."

"The stately gown with narrow skirt or the complicated drapery that is so lovely when you stand or are on dress parade may be very unlovely as you dance."

"An evening frock above all things should be comfortable so you can be entirely unconscious of it. Any traces of self-consciousness ruins the effect. You are very young and lithe, do not attempt bouffant styles no matter how much they appeal to your imagination. Shun, too, the extremely diaphanous effects. Chiffons and cobwebby fabrics are kind to youth but brutal to age. Velvets, brocades, satins, crepes and the heavier laces have infinitely more possibility for the mature figure."

Consider Your Defects
"Consider your defects as well as your good points. There are charming cape effects that conceal scrawny shoulder blades and ingenious scarfs that add chic while they hide hollows in the neck. There are clever drapery and jabot effects that will conceal curves that are too curved."

"If you have your gowns made, think twice before you alter any lines on the model you are copying. Clothes have become harder and are easily unbalanced. A change in the neckline or a different sleeve may put the costume out of key."

"Many of the most lovely gowns of this season have their own coats or capes to match, carried out in the material of the gown. Separate wraps of velvet, brocade or lace are easily unbalanced. On a gown the cape is less featured than in other seasons."

"Velvet is frequently used as a lining for fur, velvet or brocade wraps and makes the most lovely background when thrown back over one's chair."

"It is a season of lavishness as well as loveliness, and no type of woman has been neglected in the gorgeous regalia."

DANVILLE CAPTURES THREE GUNS FOR MEMORIAL PARK

Danville, at last, has captured the guns it has been fighting for for nearly two years.

Three fine pieces of undetermined calibre will be forwarded to Danville as soon as the hundred dollars for the freight is secured.

Edward R. Diggs, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce who has been conducting correspondence to James T. Catlin, Jr., that the three fine pieces are ready for delivery but that the freight must be prepaid.

Mr. Catlin will be paid and by this it is inferred that the guns will be sent here as soon as possible.

To the Council rights belongs the credit for the first initiative in securing a captured gun for this city. Correspondence at that time revealed that captured material was not then being delivered but that Danville would be in mind when the proper time came. Later the Chamber of Commerce renewed the request but obstacles against were placed in the way. Comparatively recently it became known that the War Department was forwarding to many communities captured cannon. As a matter of fact, the matter with the War Department by correspondence but he did not get very far. Most of his letters remained unanswered.

Mr. Diggs made a personal enquiry into the matter and again he appears to have taken up the matter in Washington yesterday when he happened to be there.

Mr. Diggs telegram did not say what type of guns are ready for shipment here but he said not long ago that he was not seeking machine guns but a few of good size. It is probable that the guns probably are similar in size to the French Seventy-fives. They will be placed in all probability on the streets of Danville. The freight charges will be immediately defrayed by the Chamber of Commerce may be made good by the city government since the guns first arrived will be a community asset.

Three Accused of Murder in Franklin Freed By Juries

(Special to The Bee)
ROCKY MOUNT, Va., Nov. 11.—Two murder cases with three men as defendants have been tried here in a Franklin circuit court during the past three days, acquittals being returned in each case.

J. W. Bolling and Ammond Starkey were tried for the murder of Thomas H. Guthrie in May of this year near Naff in this county. It was in evidence that a few days before the murder Bolling and Starkey were hauling thirty cabbins of liquor to Roanoke when they became frightened and hid the liquor in some woods by the road side. The two men were charged with the murder of Guthrie and placing him in a broad wagon in such a way that he was killed by the door.

Alfred Miles was tried for the murder of his father-in-law, Stant Martin. In this case the evidence disclosed the fact that both men while drinking engaged in a quarrel. The defendant claimed that Martin started towards him with his hand in his pocket. Whereupon Miles picked up a shovel and dealt Martin a blow on the head causing his death.

Simplety Will Be Observed at Lodge's Funeral

(By The Associated Press)
BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Simplety will be observed at the funeral tomorrow of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in accordance with the family's wishes.

President Coolidge directed that the officers in command of military units here do all in their power to carry out the wishes of Senator Lodge's relatives. It was said to be improbable that military escorts would be accepted, however.

As representatives of the president, Secretary of State Hughes, Secretary of War Weeks and Captain Adolphus Andrews, naval aide to the president, will attend. There will be delegation from the Senate and House.

DR. THOMAS L. WATSON TO BE BURIED AT CHATHAM
Funeral services of Dr. Thomas L. Watson, who occupied the chair of Geology and Mineralogy at the University of Virginia, and who died at Charlottesville, will be held at Chatham tomorrow afternoon. The remains will arrive at half past three o'clock yesterday evening at Chatham tomorrow afternoon. The Masons will officiate at the grave. Mrs. Grail Says Taniac Is Without An Equal
Mrs. Hattie Grail, a highly successful and popular practical nurse, 32nd and Douglas Sts., Des Moines, Iowa, is another among the many of her admirable profession to endorse the Taniac treatment.

Following a period of severe nervous prostration two years ago, declared Mrs. Grail recently, "I was so weak, restless and uncertain of myself that I scarcely dared go on my street alone. I suffered from violent headaches and dizzy spells and again from a condition of extreme drowsiness. For a time I was compelled to give up my work."

"But with Taniac my recovery was surprisingly rapid, and soon my nerves were entirely normal, the pains left my head, my appetite and digestion became perfect and I was strong enough to resume my work of nursing. In short, Taniac built me up so I have enjoyed sound health ever since."

Taniac is sold by all good druggists, or by mail order. Over 40 million bottles sold.

NEW CHURCH IS DEDICATED IN PITTSYLVANIA

First Services Held at Community Presbyterian Church Near Ringgold

The "Community Presbyterian Church" between Ringgold and Blanche in Pittsylvania county, was dedicated last Sunday afternoon with appropriate services. The dedication sermon being preached by Rev. N. C. Caldwell, Graham, N. C., and Rev. W. S. Milne, of Greensboro, N. C. Three new officers were appointed as follows: Frank Caldwell, Jr., elder, and H. J. Chapman and J. R. Griffith, deacons.

The new church recently completed is the result of the rapid growth of the community religiously. Elder J. T. Kilby played the organ in the religious development of the community. The first house of worship was founded by Rev. N. R. Clayton, of Milton. He held services in the Lindsey public school building for many years. About three and a half years ago the house of worship was turned over to Elder J. T. Kilby, who has been instrumental in the rapid growth until now of a church which is keenly felt. With the aid of the community the church was finally decided on. The dedication last Sunday was largely attended. A musical program was carried out before the service.

The site on which the new church was built was donated by Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Cardwell, they contributing an acre.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fralin and children, Mrs. Elsie Sneed, who recently moved to Roanoke, has returned back here where they will make their home in the future.

Mrs. T. C. McDowell, who was operated on for appendicitis at the Halcyon hospital, is getting along nicely.

Little Elizabeth Lee, who was operated on at the Halcyon hospital for appendicitis, is reported quite sick.

The Philites Class of Mrs. Robert East of the Presbyterian church, will meet Mrs. C. B. Lacy's on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Junior Choir of the Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. Jack Mosely's Friday evening at 7:30.

Charles Hutchison, of near Halifax, was in town yesterday selling tobacco.

Jack Roberts, of Dan River, is a visitor in town.

Barbara smiled fondly at her latest suitor. She had nothing to say about the coming marriage; it will be more than a year before she can wed, because the only decree Daugherty can obtain is an interlocutory one which doesn't wait for trial.

She was concerned only with the report that she had attempted suicide.

"How ridiculous to say I tried to kill myself," she said, "especially with that stuff. If they'd said champagne, or arsenic or something I could understand. But I did not even know what it was."

"You know, Bathroom in the gray dawn," the doctor told me to take three or four drops. So I took fifteen or twenty and that's that."

The only way to stop dancing cheek to cheek is to marry the girl. Our street car system could be improved by granting stopovers and selling round-trip tickets.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The Aim And End After All

Anyone who is healthy and alert is able to get quite a thrill out of the ordinary thing of making money, for instance. But he will quickly tire of it all because he can see no definite and happy end.

The chief end and aim of life should be to enrich this life—which by the way, is all life. And this enriching process is one of individual selection whereby beauty and love prevails over all.

You can't get very much fun out of building a house in which you are to live alone.

Imagine the kind of a world this would be if you and everyone else sought to make it wholly and exclusively a personal possession. People ought to get the habit of stretching their souls!

I often think of what a wonderful organ the heart is. It never seems to get tired. For nearly a hundred years it keeps beating away, putting up with all manner of abuse, always hoping and hoping. But this heart much prefers to beat for something!

If only to say once every night: "What a sky, what stars!" I saw an actor the other evening who merely acted. He made me think of another actor who forgot all about acting and played the part. He made me think of this great man who on being asked how to be a great actor replied: "Study everything you can about acting—then forget it all."

The chief end and aim of life, according to my idea, is to be an artist through and through, to be one without thinking whether it is going to pay or not, or whether you are going to be noticed or rewarded.

Give the world a rollicking laugh, a smooth and even attempt at doing something better than it has ever been done before and be kind and thoughtful while you are doing it.

THE REFEREE

By Albert Apple

law was passed, allowing makers to sell pins only on Jan. 1 and 2. Women saved up for these days the rest of the year. So we have the phrase, "pin money," its meaning altered by time.

Other interesting origins are recounted by Lillian Eichler in her new book, "The Customs of Mankind."

The barber's red-and-white-striped pole dates back to days when the barber performed minor surgical operations, including "blood letting." He kept his white bandages hanging on a pole. Finally, as an ad, he put the red-and-white-striped pole in front of his shop to symbolize blood-soaked bandages.

Tipping also started with barbers. For bleeding and other small surgical services they had no set charges, but left payment to the customer. In England others took up the custom. Soon a box appeared in taverns with a sign, "To Insure Promptness." The initials: "T-I-P."

"Windfall" means good luck. It started nearly 1000 years ago when William the Conqueror made it a criminal offense for English peasants to cut forest timber. They could have "only what the wind blew down." A big storm brought a lucky haul of wood—a windfall.

Ancient Chinese tortured prisoners by tickling the naked soles of their feet with straws. So started the expression, "tickled to death."

The situation has not changed since it was recorded in Ecclesiastes: "That which hath been is the same which will be; and that which hath been done is the same which will be done; and there is nothing new under the sun."

As for Lillian Eichler's book, it is the latest of the chain started by H. G. Wells' "Outline of History." As for importance, it is debatable whether the history of wars and political movements is as consequential as an understanding of the origins of customs, games, manners, fashions and superstitions.

The kiss, an accidental invention, has had more influence than all rulers and armies combined.

The Affair at Flower Acres

© 1924, by NIA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Douglas Raynor is found shot through the heart in the early evening on the floor of the sun room of Flower Acres, his Long Island home. Standing over the dead man, pistol in hand, is Malcolm Finley, former sweetheart of Raynor's wife, Nancy. Eva Turner, Raynor's nurse, stands by the light switch. In a moment Nancy appears white-faced and terrified. Orville Kent, Nancy's brother, comes in from the south side of the house. And then Ezra Goddard, friend of Finley, Miss Mattie, Raynor's sister, and others enter upon the scene. Detective Dobbins heads the police investigation. An autopsy reveals that Raynor also was being systematically poisoned with arsenic. Lionel Raynor, son of Douglas Raynor by first marriage, comes to claim his father's estate. Nurse Turner, arrested by Dobbins for poisoning Douglas Raynor, before the shooting, out of revenge. Pennington Wise, a celebrated detective, with his girl assistant, Zizi, are called to take the case. The hands of Detective Dobbins, Wise and Zizi begin to suspect Grimshaw Gannon, a hired man, being implicated in the murder.

YOU GO ON WITH THE STORY

"You got a lot from a little eaves-dropping."

"Yes, I did," Zizi looked complacently. "Now, you take it in—what information and see if it's worth anything. You see, Pen, that old Gannon is an ideal villain—he looks for all the world like a murderer, even like a pirate or bandit."

"Don't be foolish, Zizi—your imagination is running away from you."

"Well, it will bring me back. Oh, Penny, do look at the view from here! And there's a bridge—I suppose that is the bridge to which Mr. Kent walked with the neighbor that night."

"It must be—there's no other bridge nearby. Yes, see, he—Come on down on the bridge, Zizi."

The two went down the gentle incline of sloping lawn to the pretty little bridge that spanned the noisy tumbling brook, whose musical ripple had been aided by judiciously placed stone sin its course.

"Now, Zizi, take it in—get the picture. Mr. Kent stood here, with the neighbor girl, at the time of the shooting. You can't see the house from here—look, you can see the roofs of it, but not the doorways."

"Yes, I see that. Nor could you hear a shot—could you?"

"I doubt it. But that doesn't matter. I am getting at the time. All the people at the house are hazy as to the exact time—I mean, to the minute, of the shooting. They all say a little before seven—or near seven."

"Except the nurse."

"Yes—she fixes it definitely—but, is she truthful?"

"I don't know—I've not quite sized up that nurse yet. Of course she would know the time, and if she did tell the truth—it seems to tally with Kent's account. He was here at this bridge at seven exactly, and she started to walk up this hill—"

"Hardly a hill, Penny, just a gentle rise."

"Well, this gentle rise, then. Let's take the rise ourselves and see how long it takes."

They walked up the slope toward the house.

"I'm thinking now about an intruder, Zizi. You see, is was pretty much dusk at seven o'clock, and Kent couldn't be expected to see any one skulking away from the house. If the person took pains not to be seen."

"And especially if the observer had no thought of looking out for a crim-

"About the will," he said, in a low, even voice. "Where is it?"

"I don't know—I haven't got it."

"You had the copy—the little Fay girl found it."

"Yes—but I haven't the will itself—the signed will."

"What right then I know who has. Now, see here, Gannon—what do you know of Douglas Raynor's past? If you come across with that, I'll let up on the will business—for the present."

"What do you mean—his past? He never did anything wrong."

"Oh, didn't he? Well, I say he did. And, furthermore, I saw you know all about it—and you used this knowledge for—"

"Don't say it!" Gannon put up his hand as if to ward off a blow. "Don't say that word—it isn't true!"

"Wise saw at once the old man was afraid of being accused of blackmail. He believed that Gannon had been persuaded to steal the will by a stronger nature than his own—Lionel Raynor's of course—and that Gannon now regretted it."

But it had to be proven and Wise set to work to verify his opinions.

By the dint of careful and adroit questioning, by judicious hints of "the law," and by means of some help here and there from Zizi, Wise finally drew from him the disgraceful story of Raynor's life in so far as it affected the dead man's wife.

"Yes," old Gannon recapitulated. "I knew he lied to Miss Kent, as she was then. I knew he made up that yarn about her father being a criminal—a forger—I knew he made her marry him because if she didn't, he'd be disgraced and her father'd be put in jail, and her brother'd die of shame—and, well, Raynor put it to that girl in such a way that she couldn't get out of marrying him unless she brought her whole family down to the dregs of disgrace. And it wasn't true—it wasn't true!" The old man waxed furious now. "I know the truth! Douglas Raynor committed that forgery himself! I know it! I've always known it, and Raynor knew I knew it! That's why he gave me this house—gave me money—let me have my own way! That's why he was afraid of me and he was afraid of me! He used to beg me not to tell his wife of his fraud on her."

"Did you threaten to do so?"

"Yes, I did! To see him cringe and crawl and beg for mercy. Oh, I had no intention of telling her, but I loved to scare him."

The old man shook with hysterical emotion, that was between laughter and anger. Then he sobered down, suddenly.

"But she found out," he said, almost in a whisper. "She found out, not through me—but she overheard some words we said one night, and she gathered that he had deceived her about her father."

"What did she do?" Zizi asked, breathlessly.

"She went straight to Raynor and taxed him with it. He denied it, of course—she couldn't prove it—so she left as well. So, to save the bunch, she married that devil."

"Without proving his story?" cried Zizi.

"How could she? She had no one to ask but her own family or this suitor."

"And she was in love with Mr. Finley at the time?" asked Zizi.

"That I can't say, but they were acquainted, I know. They were married very soon and settled down here at Flower Acres. Her father lived but a short time after that, and she put DRAKES BRANCH, November 11.—(DRAKES Wireless.)—Now that the little boys and girls can skate on the sidewalks, thanks to the National Skating Association, our City fathers' mothers can go on with their basking and have nothing to worry about. This compromise offers a wise solution of the problem, the children may still have their innocent pleasure and by keeping off the streets, avoid the great danger of accidents due to automotive traffic.

The kiddies were naturally upset all day Sunday and, were thinking about swapping their skates for all-day suckers and playing tag in the back yard, but now they are smiling again and will pull up their averages. However, roller skating is a healthful exercise and auto be encouraged, it makes the little spindle legs strong and active, aids digestion and induces sound sleep.

When a farmer cannot buy gasoline he sells accumulated milk cans to the dealer, when the daughter of the house needs extra dimes she turns in the milk bottles, when the housewife is broke she sells an old coat, or overdraws the family account at the bank, but the average husband and father, when his pile of ready cash is exhausted, merely does without things until payday.

Men who fail to laugh are infants in intelligence. Care drives a nail in your coffin, no doubt, and every good laugh pulls the darn nail out.

If you can't find anything to laugh at, or anybody to laugh with, just laugh at yourself. Your foolish errors are enough to keep you in constant convulsions.

Was talking with Gus Booth the other day and asked him if he had a creed that he lived by. "I don't know whether I do or not, but if I do it's this: I waste no thought on my neighbor's birth or the way he makes his money. I grant him a white man's room on earth if his game is only square. While he plays it straight I'll call him mate, if he cheats, I'll drop him flat. Old class and rank are a worn-out lie, for all clean game is as good as I, and a kind one only that."

Now we know why friend Gus is leading the Community Chest drive and will carry on until success is won.

Arthur Murray's Dancing Lessons

THE WALTZ TANGO

ARTHUR MURRAY AND EVELYN LAW SHOWING THE OPEN POSITION AND SECOND STEP IN WALTZ TANGO.

By ARTHUR MURRAY

Director, National Institute of Social Dancing

In this lesson, which is the fifth of the series of twelve, I will teach you the most popular step in the waltz tango. This movement, which is called the forward waltz tango, may be used in the fox trot tango and also in the waltz. It is unquestionably the most important movement in dancing and is extensively used by good dancers in place of walking. You can master the steps described in this lesson in two minutes but if you wish to improve your dancing generally I would strongly urge you to spend an hour on the forward waltz tango movement and practice it to waltz music, then try it with slow fox trot music, and also to tango time.

Before teaching you the forward waltz tango, I want to reply to several letters from readers who request that I tell them how to ask for a dance. The most commonly used form is to say "May I have the pleasure of this dance?" or "May I have the next dance?" It is poor taste to say "Have you the next dance?" Of course a girl does not like to admit that her dances are not taken and this question is not at all pleasant.

The lady accepts by saying "Thank you, I shall be delighted." Whether or not the girl anticipates an enjoyable dance, she should thank the man for asking her. It is not only good form but a sign of delicate diplomacy for the girl to appear extremely glad when the man asks her, even though he may be a miserable dancer.

It is not good form to decline unless she is ill or is not dancing. After she declines a dance then she should not dance any more during the evening. It would of course be rude to refuse one man and then accept an invitation from another.

There are times, however, when a girl is asked to dance by an utterly impossible person. In such a case the girl should refuse by saying that her dances are all taken. If she takes this excuse, the girl takes a chance that she will be asked for all the dances later on. If they are not in demand, the young lady explains the situation to her partner who should assume the responsibility of supplying suitable dancing partners.

The Waltz Tango. In this lesson we will take up the forward waltz movement in the waltz tango, which is made up of two single waltz steps of three counts each.

First part of the forward waltz tango:

1. Begin with the left foot and step directly forward, weight on left foot.
2. Step diagonally forward to right, placing weight on right foot. (See illustration.)
3. Draw left foot up to right foot, weight on left.

That's all to the first half. Simply follow the numbers in the footprints. Master the first three steps before going further.

Second part of the forward waltz tango:

1. In the second part of the forward waltz step you begin with the right foot and go forward. Here's how to do it:
2. Step directly forward with right foot, weight on right.
3. Step diagonally forward, weight with left, going to left, placing weight on that foot!
4. Draw the right foot up to the left foot, weight on left. That's all.

NOTE: Study each part of three counts very carefully. Do not attempt to learn too quickly. Repeat the first part at least ten times before taking up the second part. Remember that when you take a step, place the weight down on that foot and take the other foot off the floor. Study the diagram very closely.

Here is the count for the complete forward waltz tango movement:

1. Step forward on left foot.
2. Step diagonally forward to right.
3. Draw left foot up to right, weight on left.
4. Step directly forward with right foot, weight on right.
5. Step diagonally forward to left.
6. Draw right foot up to left, weight on right.

Practice this step around the room, going in the line of direction. Study the diagram carefully and follow the footprints which are numbered. The right foot is shaded.

Remember that when dancing to fox trot or tango music, the first and fourth steps are done slowly, while the other steps are taken quickly.

SKATING BAN IS LIFTED BY COUNCIL ORDINANCE

The ban on street skating was formally lifted today when Mayor Harry Wooding signed an ordinance adopted by the City Council last night by unanimous vote. The ordinance or the amendment to the twenty-five year-old law on the subject permits the use of the sidewalks in the city for skating, except in the downtown or congested area and also gives protection to motorists. Children must maintain at least 200 feet from such institutions. Skating in the streets, as differentiated from sidewalks, is expressly prohibited because of the danger of children being struck by motor vehicles.

Another matter which has recently come to the fore in the public mind is the parking problem. The council adopted a recommendation calling for a "fair trial" of the parallel parking ordinance and rejecting for the time being at least, the thirty-degree angle proposal. However, the last phrase of the recommendation as contained in the Public Works Committee report was stricken out—that calling on the mayor to enforce the ordinance. The question of enforcement is to be left to the police officers with the suggestion that instead of enforcing the law to the fractional limit that they use their own judgment.

Every member of the Council was present last night for a meeting which lasted for an hour and a half, in which was opened by prayer by Rev. J. S. Gresham pastor of Calvary Methodist Church. The first matter presented to the Council was a memorandum from those who are attacking the validity of the June bond elections in which the treasurer and the Council members individually that the contestants "will exhaust the resources of the court" to prevent the issuance, the negotiation or the sale of the bonds. It is warned that legal steps will be taken to prevent payment of any of the bonds by the City of Danville, "and shall likewise seek hold you and each of your liable on your official bonds, if there be any as well as individuals for any damages ensuing to the city."

The Finance Committee report dealt very definitely with the three bond issues aggregating half a million dollars which are in the courts. The Council unanimously last night adopted the ordinance after they had laid over the required time. The next formal step is the issuance of the bonds by sending an order to have them lithographed. This step may precipitate a court clash and further injunction proceedings. The Council, however, indicates its firm purpose of going forward with the negotiations and even the sale of the bonds on the opinion given by the city's firm of bond lawyers in New York which has informed the city that the bonds were legally voted and that they can be sold without question.

By paying the premium on the bond furnished by the Chamber of Commerce in the negotiations for the erection of the umbrella sheds immediately instead of installments a saving of $300 may be had and the Council last night voted that the full amount $1,600 be paid at once. Other matters dealt with in this report included the adoption of a recommendation to pay Morris Moore $350 for purging the poll books, a recommendation to appropriate $6,000 for the further development of Highland Burial Park, $3,500 or as much as may be necessary for a new bridge across the canal at Spring street; and $5,200 for the improvements to the City Home. A supplementary report from the finance committee repealed the cemetery bond ordinance which was found defective in the substitution of the word "maintain" for the word "improvement" and it was necessary for the amended ordinance to be read and to lie over again for maturity. All three of the June bond issue ordinances were adopted unanimously as the issuance of $100,000 refunding bonds, after Councilman Meade had served notice that he considered this "a poor financial policy" and after expressing the hope that such a course would not be necessary again. It was pointed out that previous councils had not made provision for block of bonds to mature in January but that during the past five or six years the Sinking Fund had been built up so as to provide for the retirement of serial bonds, which type the city has now adopted.

Chairman Townes of the Finance Committee at this point went into the skating ordinance and rehearsed events leading up to the request on the part of the committee to the chief of police that the existing ordinance be enforced. He said that under the circumstances, and in view of the petition from East Main street results that the committee had no alternative in the matter. Arguments as to whether the word "street" would include the sidewalk was heard in which the city attorney ruled that as the ordinance stood children were prohibited from skating on any of the streets or sidewalks of the city. Councilman E. F. Carter explained the East Main street situation adding that it was unquestionably true that people on that street ranging from twelve to eighteen years of age who congregated there and who have, he was told, caused a good deal of trouble. Mr. Townes at this point suggested that this situation could be readily coped with and that the chief of police, if necessary, should preserve order by stationing a policeman at the point. Councilman Gay Walton who lives in that vicinity insisted that he, personally, had no complaint to offer to the situation described in the petition. Half a dozen citizens had entered the council chamber just prior to the debate and the rules were suspended to hear from them on this subject. J. C. Elliott who lives on East Main street said that he could speak for the activity of that police and that every time a call for the police had been sent an officer had responded and that there was no difference on the part of the executive arm of city government. He championed the cause of the children.

Mayor Wooding who was asked for his views on the ordinance suggested that the penalty for violating the skating ordinance be reduced from $1 to $10 instead of $5 to $25 and this suggestion was accepted by the chairman of the finance committee.

When the vote was taken on the new ordinance, all the councilmen, excepting E. F. Carter, voted for it.

The only other formal report presented during the evening was that of the Public Works Committee which recorded the issuance of building permits during the month totalling $43,065. The recommendation that the parallel parking law be given a fair trial was subjected to debate. Councilman McFall stated that he had heard a good deal of complaint over the enforcement recently and that it is causing a lot of trouble. He favored the angular parking plan but Councilman Townes objected on the ground that this would as before, reduce the channel for vehicular traffic. Mr. Townes further expressed the belief that it was unwise to enforce the parking law to its strict letter, but that the police should be given latitude and permitted to use their discretion instead of summoning up citizens and causing them to be fined $11.45. Such a policy, he said, would make the law so unpopular that public sentiment would compel a change. Mr. Boatwright in discussing the issue held that "enforcement" does not necessarily mean summoning every violator but assisting and seeing that the citizens obey the law.

The parking of cars too near the fire plugs was noted in one recommendation and the police were requested to see to it that this violation be stopped. Adverse recommendations, both of which were carried, were made on all cars stopping at Jefferson street before entering Main and on prohibiting cars from turning anywhere on Main street. Application for a new line filling station adjacent to 866 Stokes street was also denied. Acceptance of a deed to the city by the Industrial Savings and Loan Company for sewer lights of way on the outskirts was also carried.

Competed Teams for Chest Drive

The honor of being first to report his full team organization in the coming Community Chest drive goes to Captain Richard P. Moss, city auditor, and a captain in Division 3, which is under Major E. Walton Brown. Mr. Moss came into the office this morning and reported having filled his list with workers. Captain Moss reports the following men as Lieutenants: F. W. Townes, Jr., L. A. Morris, F. L. Moses, Dr. W. O. Hankins, G. O. Dodge, W. L. Norton, Mark Richardson, John E. Overton, Harry Wooding, Jr., C. B. Talley, H. E. Phillips, and Robert Dunn.

This represents a fine piece of work on the part of Mr. Moss. "The men are anxious to work because they feel the service they are rendering is for the good of Danville," said he. "I am sure the other captains will find the same kind of a response."

Mr. Moss's prediction was hardly outworn when J. L. Hankins, captain on the division being organized under Major J. Allen Herman, reported his team organization completed. Hugh Keeling, Dudley Brown, H. O. Eames, J. M. Reeves, Curtis H. Dodson, L. A. Wilson, J. T. Townes, C. Bruce Williams, L. B. Floral, G. F. Edwards, James M. Lea and Tom Moss are his lieutenants. Mr. Hankins said, "I feel sure that the territory assigned to my men will be cleaned up promptly and with thoroughness for which they are noted in their business. I have a fine team and the fellows who beat our record will be stepping some."

Leaders in the campaign are elated over the success of the men who are making the drive. Workers W. J. Walton, campaign director, says that the whole spirit augurs well for the ultimate success of the drive. He must make a good showing in Danville in order to keep up with other Virginia cities engaging in similar drives at this time. "They are watching up, and they have splendid organizations too," he said. "However I am confident that Danville will more than put the drive over."

W. T. Cousins, a captain in the division over which William E. Walton Brown is major, reported a full team yesterday closely following the reports by Captains R. P. Moss and J. L. Hankins, made earlier in the day. Mr. Cousins furnished the following names as workers on his team: J. T. Hamilton, Jr., H. T. Harrison, A. R. Graveley, A. D. Keen, E. R. Young, P. L. Booth, A. J. Grady, Dr. R. W. Garrett, J. L. Graveley, and Wade H. Pierce.

With Mr. Cousins' report Major Brown's division now leads in that two of his captains have completed their soliciting organization. Favorable reports are being received on the balance of the workers' organization under Allen Herman and George P. Georgehan, the other two majors.

Tricks of FAKE MEDIUMS

MATERIALIZE A SPIRIT

The materialization of a full-grown spirit during a "cabinet séance" is one of the most convincing of all fraudulent phenomena, and has an awe-inspiring effect upon the "sitters."

From a mere patch of light hovering about the door, a beautiful, luminous form gradually materializes, finally developing into a spirit personage who walks and talks.

The "spirit" is a living person—a confederate of the medium. She wears a filmy costume coated with luminous paint. This is covered with a black cloak, which the confederate removes a little at a time, until finally she discards it altogether and appears a full-grown "spirit."

"Dematerialization" is accomplished by resuming the cloak.

Pine Tar and Honey Still Best for Chest Colds and Coughs

Our mothers and grandmothers would never be without pine tar syrup in the house for coughs, chest colds, etc. This was many years ago, but modern medicine has never been able to improve on this time-tested remedy. Doctors say the pine tar is hard to beat for quickly loosening and removing the phlegm and congestion that are the actual cause of the cough. At the same time pine tar and honey soon soothe and heal all irritation and soreness.

The kind that has been used with never-failing success in thousands of families for years is that known as Dr. Williams' Pine-Tar Honey. This is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other quick-acting, healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in the cure of chest troubles. It is not a stimulant, narcotic or harmful drug, so can be given to young children—one for spasmodic cough, two for whooping cough, and three for the most severe cough, to be sure you get Dr. Williams' Pine-Tar Honey. It costs only 25¢ at any good druggist's.

HOW HARRIS DOPED OUT PART HURLERS WERE TO PLAY IN LAST CONTEST

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The psychology employed by Manager Sunney Harris of the Washington Americans in handling pitchers in the final game of the 1924 world's series which has been the subject of much speculation ever since was revealed today by a member of the Washington team close to Harris.

The number of innings each one of the four pitchers who participated in the game was to work and the exact time of their entrance and departure were outlined by Harris before the teams took the field according to the manager. And this schedule was followed to the letter except for two circumstances, one of which was the fact that the game went into extra innings.

The other exception was in the case of "Curly" Ogden, the mound for the Senators. According to Harris' plans, Ogden was to pitch to but a man, Lindstrom, and then he was to be replaced by George McGraw, veteran left-hander, to make good on the Lindstrom, thereby giving Harris no legitimate excuse for banking him.

According to the man who tells the story, Harris then walked to the mound.

"My arm is feeling fine and my curve ball has got the old hop," pleaded Ogden to Harris. "Please let me stay in."

"I can't very well take you out now," said Harris, "but the minute you get into trouble, out you go."

Frisch, the next man to face Ogden, walked, and without even a glance at Harris, Ogden walked too. George McGraw, veteran left-hander, took his place there to stay until McGraw had his team and took out his left-handed hitters.

It was Bill Terry, Giant first baseman, who threw the scare into Harris and caused him to resort to this strategy. Fans who followed the last game will remember that when McGraw sent in a pinch hitter to swing

Senators May Get Shocker

Court Must Decide Issue In Hill Case

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 11.—Whether the Volstead act prohibits the manufacture of cider of fruit juices of more than one-half of one per cent alcoholic content for use at home, or whether a jury must decide the intoxicating content of juices so manufactured, will be decided today by Judge Morris A. Soper, in federal court.

This question was raised yesterday by District Attorney Woodcock, in the trial of Representative John Philip Hill of Baltimore indicted for illegally manufacturing and possessing wine and cider containing more than one-half of one per cent alcohol.

Mr. Woodcock raised the point when he objected to the second question put to the first defense witness, John J. McGinty. Admitting that he had attended Mr. Hill's "cider party" recently, Dr. McGinty was not permitted to state whether he had seen anyone there intoxicated.

The government closed its case after introducing expert chemists who testified that the alcoholic content of Mr. Hill's cider ranged from .06 to .27 per cent, and that of the wine from 3.34 to 11.64 per cent.

PROMISE MADE ON DEATHBED OF WIFE FULFILLED

C. W. A. Enables Father Who Made Vow to See It Carried Out.

He is a widower. Beside the death bed of his wife he made a vow that his four children would not be put in a orphanage, and he was valiantly struggling to keep his promise. In order to provide for the youngsters this man must be away all day and a combination cook-nurse was procured. The upbringing of the children was being neglected and the father was becoming discouraged. He brought his troubles to the C. W. A. A lovely home has been found in the country for the oldest daughter—her foster parents give her every attention and she loves them. A scholarship for the next child was procured through the co-operation of another organization and the help of the C. W. A. The third child is being sent to a good school. Jack, the baby, is with his father and when he is ready for school he is assured of a place. The father, once discouraged and unhappy for fear his children would become public charges, is now bright and cheerful over their prospects.

Is the community chest run for profit?

No. Every dollar contributed to the chest by the public goes to the purpose for which it was given. All officers and members of the committee that directs its activities serve without pay. Only the secretary and his assistant receive any pay.

How is the chest money apportioned?

All the participating organizations receive from the chest for current operating expenses sufficient money to make up the difference between their income from all sources and their expenditures. The budget submitted by them represents the maximum they are eligible to receive unless the committee makes some provision when the agency is confronted with an unforeseen emergency.

Is the community chest political or sectarian?

No. It is neither political or sectarian. It is for service to the whole community and not any party, sect or faith.

Why is it better to give to the community chest than direct to the needy?

Because only a small proportion of the needy, and their needs are known to the individual giver. Only by careful investigation can the real needs, and the real way to help, be discovered, and duplication of effort and imposition be avoided.

EIGHT OUT OF TEN COUPLES ARE MISMATED

Eighty P. C. of Men Wed Girls Intended For Some Other Man's Wife

BY CORINNE RICH

(Universal Service Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—That eighty per cent of the American men marry some other man's wife, was the appalling indictment hurled at the country by Dr. Orlando Edgar Miller, president of the International Society of Applied psychology, in a lecture here.

Charging that in the average home there is no unity of interests, no sympathy, no contentment, Dr. Miller denounced the average man as a matrimonial misfit due only to the fact that he is mismated.

Eight out of every ten couples are sure that they would be better off out of the bonds of matrimony than in it, he alleged. All of this is because they have never learned to love scientifically; because men have married other men's wives; have led to the altar women meant for somebody else in the general scheme of life.

"In the science of loving—not making love, mind you, we have not progressed one inch in five thousand years," Dr. Miller declared.

"It is the only thing in life in which we have stood perfectly still," he said. "A man falls in love with a girl because she has a pretty face. He does not inquire into her physical health nor her mental processes. He thinks she is the most wonderful creature in the world because she wears a certain hat."

"Soon he discovers that she has a violent temper, that she is not so beautiful as he thought, that she in no way complements him for making a perfect home. It is too late. They are unhappy and miserable. Perhaps a divorce is the only outcome."

"That man married somebody else's wife. He captured a girl who might have found the man for whom she was intended. Her husband stole her from science."

Training men and women to love and select their mate with reason and precision, such as a scientist selects materials for an experiment, might do much to relieve the situation, and reduce to a very great extent, the appalling percentage of the matrimonial ships which go to pieces on the rocks of discord, according to Dr. Miller.

"The trouble is with our educational system, a system moss-covered and worm eaten," he explained. "Boys and girls are taught everything except the only important thing in life—how to love. They come out of school with their heads full of other people's inconsequential thoughts and out of the churches feeling that the only worthwhile thing to do is to die well."

"They do not know how to sleep, eat nor play properly. They know nothing about love. They have never been taught the principles of eugenics and natural selection. These subjects, so vital and necessary, have been crowded out by school and church."

"The ancients were far above us in the science of love. They did not go about it in a haphazard fashion. They constantly had the improvement of the race in mind. We have not."

"If we knew how to love scientifically and actually did it, in a few generations there would be a race as high above us as we are above the chimpanzee. It would be a race of supermen."

WASHINGTON TO BE MEETING CENTER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Washington may soon add to its other attractions that of the business meeting center of the country. The recently opened auditorium in the new home of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, its officials here say, will soon become the rendezvous of special lines in the commercial world. They point to the gathering of the Chamber of Commerce secretaries from over the country in the auditorium as the forerunner of similar conclaves, where business men of kindred interest will discuss their common problems in a home of their own.

As evidence of the diversification of these special units within the national chamber, the organization's roster reveals the varied scope of the activities of Mr. American Business Men. The American Cotton Waste Exchange, the American Spice Trade Association, the American Tuck Manufacturers' Association, the National Selected Morticians, the International Acetylene Association, the Hydraulic Society, the Better Bedding Alliance of America, the National Aircraft Underwriters Association, the Compressed Air Society, the National Association of Taxicab Owners, the Plate Glass Insurance Exchange of New York and the United States Trade-Mark Association appear in the litany of business units.

Equal Rights on Gold Links!

MIRIAM BURNS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 11.—Equal suffrage on the golf links as well as in the voting booth! That's the new demand by women. Heading the move for that kind of recognition by men, who in almost all clubs bar women from the links on holidays and Sundays, is Miriam Burns, Kansas City champion golfer, and student in Northwestern University, Chicago.

Last summer she played into the finals in the western championship in Chicago and lost to Edna Cummings. In the national championship she got revenge by defeating Miss Cummings but neither was able to win the championship.

Miss Burns began playing at 14 and at 19 was one of the country's most promising feminine golfers. "To improve my game, I'd like to play more with men," Miss Burns says.

"But, being a mere woman, I am ruled from the time when men play. I don't like golf club regulations one bit. They are man-made rules and unfair to women—especially the ones who work or attend college classes."

"Why should a woman who is as busy other days as the men, be barred from the courses Saturday afternoons and Sundays?"

FOOTBALL QUESTIONS

If You Have Some Question to Ask About Football Write—

LAWRENCE PERRY,
Special Football Correspondent of The Bee, 814 World Building,
New York

BY LAWRENCE PERRY
(Copyright, 1924, by the Consolidated Press Association.)

Question—What is the longest penalty that can be made in football? Is it as I have heard stated, half the distance to the goal line?

Answer—Ordinarily yes. But many strange things can happen in football. Here is a longer penalty. Team A. kicks off from its own ten yard line. There is a heavy wind blowing with the kick. The ball rolls and is blown back to team B's ten yard line. Here it is picked up by a member of team B who has run back to recover the ball. With him is another member of his team who runs as interferer for the man who recovered the ball. An end of Team A, the kicking team has come down the field to tackle the man with the ball, but the man who is interfering for the ball carrier clips him out of the play. The penalty being imposed from the spot where the ball was put in play (kicked) means a penalty of about eighty yards.

Question—In a game in which I was captain of one of the teams a punt was touched by an offside man. The umpire yelled "free ball." Was the umpire right to do this? Should not he have kept still and left such calling to a player?

Answer—The rules do not forbid an official thus calling but the Western Conference recommends it not be permitted.

Would Dempsey Bother England?

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Jack Dempsey has let it be noted that he wouldn't mind coming over to England to take a punch or two at some of the British heavyweights. All of which has caused the sophisticated sportsmen to smile, and the unsophisticated to praise even darker days ahead for British prestige in the boxing business.

There isn't a boxer in all of Britain who gives any promise of standing up against Dempsey for even a few rounds, unless the champion had a mind to be playful. And the British know this. In fact they spoke just as much of their quiet fun at their boxing predicaments as do the more belligerent humorists overseas. After all, who might be matched with Dempsey in a London ring?

There is Frank Goddard, the champion, who got his title on a foul. And just the other day he crossed the channel to fight in the Basque country with a man named Paolini. Nobody in the boxing game in Britain except Goddard has ever heard of Paolini, for his main business is to throw his title in the ring and drop down from it.

Then there is Joe Beckett, who has a long record of cold knockouts registered against him. Not long ago Beckett retired, married and settled in a quiet life of watching the boats come and go at Southampton. He sent a little piece to the papers the other day saying he would like to try a "come-back." Nobody else, seemingly, who has seen him, try, and he has had no encouragement.

After chucking of the Beckett ambitions, one turns ones thoughts, perhaps to Jack Bloomfield, the cruiser-weight champion, who is said to be early in the process of retrieving British prestige in the pugilistic profession. Tommy Gibbons came over to England from the States and disillusioned Bloomfield, quickly and forcibly.

So the best of retrieving British prestige in the pugilistic profession, Tommy Gibbons came over to England from the States and disillusioned Bloomfield, quickly and forcibly.

Colonel Sievert, organizer of the German flying forces during the World War, has been declared an outcast by the National Association of Imperial Officers because he ridiculed the distribution of war medals by the Kaiser's officials. WEEK OF PRAYER OPENS IN INTERESTING SERVICE

The opening service in observance of the world-wide week of prayer for young men was held at the Danville Young Men's Christian Association at 8:45 p. m. yesterday. Dr. W. G. Christman presided at the meeting, and Rev. J. W. Link, pastor of the Lutheran church made a ten minute gospel address on "Faith and Prayer." Mr. Link defined prayer as "faith in action" and made a strong appeal for a deeper faith in the realities of the Christian religion. The meeting was well attended by both men and boys.

Today's meeting will be presided over by John T. Watson, and the ten-minute gospel address will be given by Rev. C. L. Garrison, pastor of the Jefferson Avenue Christian church. All men and boys are invited to these meetings regardless of whether they are members of the Y. M. C. A. or not.

GERMAN INTERALLIED DELEGATION GENEROUS TO TWO HOTEL STAFFS

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Waiters and other employees of two London hotels will have pleasant memories of the visit to London in August last of the German delegation to the Inter-Allied Conference on the Dawes report, for they left behind a tip of $2,500 to the staff of one hotel and $500 for the staff at another. KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young. To do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever took is a home-made remedy. It's quick, it's cheap, it's effective.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too. For a 24 cure of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply, not costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

As for a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly breaks the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing of the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Military Quell

Near Race Riot

(By The Associated Press) HARRISBURG, Ky., Nov. 8. — After a night of disorder, quiet had been restored tonight in the construction camps that flank the site of the Dix River dam, a huge hydro-electric project under construction on Dix River near here. Arrival of detachments of Kentucky national guardsmen brought an end to clashes between white construction workers and farmers, on one side, and negro workers at the dam which followed the slaying of Edward Winkie, 21, white worker, by a negro laborer Sunday night. Sheriff W. W. Kennedy, of Mercer county, said tonight the situation no longer was tense and further trouble was not expected. Clashes followed rapidly Sunday night and early today, resulting in a general exodus of negroes from the job camps.

V. M. I. Celebrates 85th Anniversary

(By The Associated Press) RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 10.—At Lexington, in the valley of Virginia, at Peking, China, at Oxford, England, and at Vienna, Austria, they will be celebrating tomorrow the 85th anniversary of the founding of the Virginia Military Institute. Throughout the world alumni chapters of the institution will join this year's student body in paying tribute to the day and to the founders of the famous military school.

The cadet will combine their celebration with that of Armistice Day. The exercises at Lexington will be of impressive military character. There will be the usual guard mount in the morning, followed by a review of the cadet battalions.

In honor of the war dead of the institution a volley will be fired, and over the barracks, flags, both State and national, will fly at half mast until the firing of the sunset gun.

The charter of Virginia Military Institute bears the date of March, 1839. In November of that year the first corps of cadets was mustered into the service of the state. Since that time the school has furnished many men of military attainment to the service of State and nation. The graduates number to date, 2,915 men.

The seven wonders of the world during autumn are: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.
